Working in collaboration with chefs, restaurants, hotels and hospitality groups, G&G Goodfellows have been part of the vision from the outset, advising and providing the most exclusive, inspiring and unique products for our customers so their vision is fulfilled.

Concept...

Mike Shaw knows his audience and he wants to cook for the Manchester of today. Tastes have certainly changed in the city and he wants to deliver that change in a way that really gets noticed.

He also knows that Manchester doesn't just want food, it wants to be wowed.

With his new venture, Musu, in Manchester of course; he is set to take the city by storm with his version on contemporary Japanese cuisine, served with theatrical aplomb. While the venue is aimed at providing a headline-grabbing experience, Mike's expert and detailed focus is very much on offering a contemporary interpretation of Japanese dishes, with hints of European influence.

While the Omakase menu is going to be the star of the show, the Kaiseki provides an opportunity to experience a curated set of dishes; and the Sentaku menus will offer diners the opportunity to tailor the experience to their individual tastes.

One thing is for sure, this restaurant is no wallflower. It stands out, loud and proud in a city that expects world class standards in not just its football.

"The chefsTABLE at TRUEfoods is an up-close and personal dining event like no other. The experience is based on a warm welcome and exceptional food. The chefs take on all roles from hosting, cooking, waiting on, pouring wine, beer, cocktails and concoctions and even washing up."

Set on the site of TRUEfoods production facilities in Melmerby, North Yorkshire, this amazing culinary experience is one of the most memorable not only for its food but also the fact it is in such an unexpected place, on an industrial estate. There are limited dates for bookings of only 8 seats around the chef's counter, where the whole kitchen team interacts with the lucky diners throughout the presentation of the tasting menu. No stuffy service here. No ceremonial reverence. This is about enjoying incredible food in a unique and intimate setting. It is also about having fun.

The original vision of Mitch Mitchell with a team led by Chef Aled Williams; The Chefs Table is a labour of love which is a true reflection of the values embodied in the still, family run, TRUEfoods company, which not only provides fresh and natural stocks to many of the UK's best restaurants but also retails its products through selected stores across the UK, Ireland and Europe.

Having welcomed some major Michelin starred guest chefs, including the likes of Thomas Keller, this is an insider's restaurant experience. That was until Giles Coren compared it to El Bulli and Noma in his review for The Times. Now, you really have to be quick if you want to book a seat for this most unusual of sell-out food gigs.

'Above at Hide' is Ollie Dabbous second restaurant to be awarded a Michelin Star. His first, 'Dabbous' maintained its Star until he closed it in 2017 in order to collaborate on Hide.

Photograph by Joakim Blockstrom

His signature style is rooted in classical technique and aims to pay homage to every single ingredient. There is not one single item on the plate, that is without purpose. But, this certainty of purpose is more than matched by the exquisite beauty of Ollie's plating.

With Hide on the ground floor, his attention to detail is likewise immaculately crafted in every dish but in a slightly more casual manner; while its popularity for Breakfast is such that anyone bagging a seat should consider themselves very lucky indeed as it's usually fully booked for months ahead.

Ollie is a huge talent that will surely influence this sector for many more years to come.

The stunning organic staircase is the centre piece of the restaurant and the botanical bas relief panels decorate the walls.

During his 10 years at The Ritz working under John Williams, Adam Smith has nurtured his expertise for classical cuisine; winning a Roux Scholarship. Now at the age of 35 he has been awarded his first Michelin Star for the beautiful Woven at Coworth Park, after only 6 months of opening.

Adam's dishes of 'simple beauty', at first glance, disguise the underlying complexity and intricate combinations of flavour and texture. Woven is a culmination of his experience and determination to bring classical dishes to the table for a modern diner while using ideas that surprise and delight. The fusion of these culinary aims combined with an abundance of local ingredients and an amazing setting; are embodied in the restaurant name 'Woven'.

The restaurant, like Adam himself, reflects the influence of nature, integrity of craftsmanship and sense of perfection. A Star that will shine brightly for many years to come.

Concept...

When Chef Greg Marchand opened the original Frenchie restaurant in Rue du Nil, Paris, his aim was to create somewhere he would want to not only dine himself, but go back to again and again. Having eaten there, as well as the Wine Bar, literally a stone's throw across the street, I can honestly say he definitely succeeded. In those early days it did not have a Michelin Star and felt like one of those places every diner dreams of discovering.

Photograph by Nicolas Bluisson

We are incredibly lucky that Greg chose to bring Frenchie's to Covent Garden, as I don't have to go so far to taste the most moreish nibble you will ever taste; Bacon Scone with Maple Syrup and Cornish Clotted Cream. Not your usual French Fayre but a signature dish that is a great example of Greg's creativity and flair.

Having taken over the Rue Du Nil with not only the original restaurant and Wine Bar, but also Frenchie Fast Good (street food) and Caviste (Wine Shop); There is now a Frenchie in Pigalle of which Greg describes the food as a bit more 'Sexy-Trash' (globalised mixed cuisine); and Verbier, as well as London.

His modern and sometimes irreverent take on French Brasserie food almost broke the mould by gaining a Michelin Star in Paris. In producing food that we all want to eat, executed with immense skill and a sense of fun, Greg has firmly established the Frenchie brand as an international success.

Concept...

A firm favourite through the history of Portfolio, Chef Daniel Watkins, has featured in Portfolios 4 & 5; our Autumn Winter Edition in 2017 and now Portfolio 6.

Photograph by James Moyle

Daniel's food journey has been extensive and varied. His latest culinary venture certainly feels like a spiritual home for this hugely talented chef. The incredibly popular Acme Fire Cult in collaboration with Andrew Clarke, is 'more than a restaurant'. With Live-Fire Cooking, done mostly outside under a canopy (if they are lucky) at The Bootyard in Dalston, the concept is mostly vegetarian and most definitely makes the best use of grilling techniques, as well as fermenting the last drop out of every possible ingredient. This no-waste policy is at the heart of their culture, while creating something that has become not just a restaurant but a brand which also extends to some very cool merchandise.

We believe the presentation of 'snacks' is incredibly important; and even more so when the snack is extremely delicate.

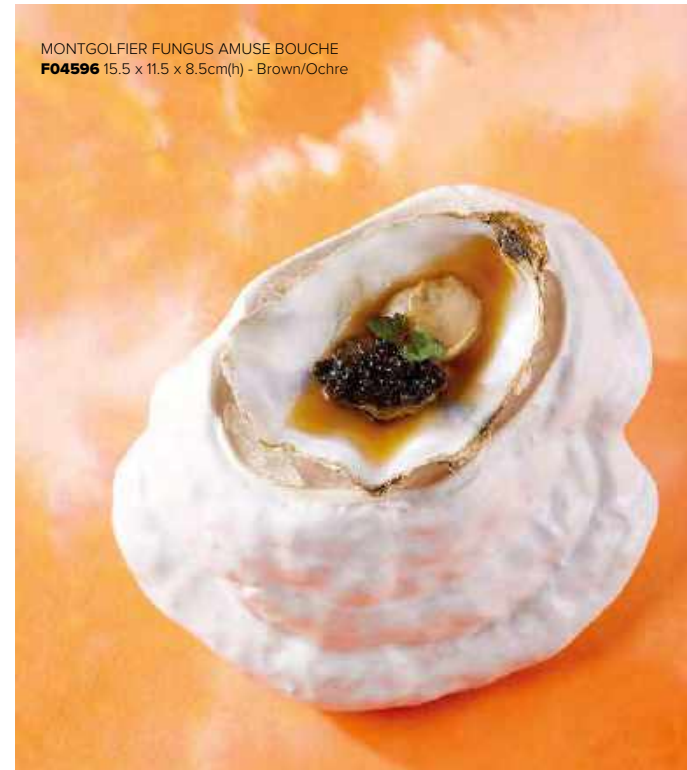

That is why we have created a section just for them. Whether they form part of a Tasting Menu or served as a delicacy with a Cocktail, the word 'snack' does not do them justice by any means.

At G&G, we look for the most innovative and beautiful ways to present these 'mouth amusers'. If we think there is something missing, then we create it; like the Silver Spiral Mini Taco Stand (shown in the Silver section).

When the 'Snacks' or 'Amuse Bouches' we show here are the first things a diner will experience of the meal ahead, they can be sure they are in for an exquisite experience.

We have worked extensively on building an exciting Barware and Glassware offering which will appeal to Michelin Star Restaurants, Hotels, Casual Dining Restaurants, Caterers and Bars.

As you know, the world of glassware is extensive and subjective, so we work to individual requirements and offer the ranges which best suit each particular project.

In Portfolio 6, we just wanted to highlight some of our newest additions which we think stand out as stunning products. These range from Wine glasses from Serax's Anne Demeulemeister range, to the most beautiful water glasses from Hering Berlin.

Of course, you will find the whole collection from all our major suppliers, in our download but we could not miss the opportunity to show off these amazing new products.

Bespoke Services

One of our major aims has always been to offer our customers as individual a service as possible; and that extends to the products we provide. Many of you want to personalise your customer experience, which encompasses creating a unique identity for your tableware.

For many years we have selected the most exclusive collection of brands, who themselves produce incredibly creative items. But just sometimes, you want more. Whether it is personalised decoration on existing products; finding products from niche suppliers; or actually creating new products from your imagination; we are proud to try harder than anyone else in bringing you these possibilities.

If you are not yet already aware that we do this, here is a flavour of our capabilities.

BESPOKE DECORATION

We can offer this on a range of products but here I want to highlight the amazing skills and flexibility of Figgjo's bespoke decoration service.

Figgjo is still a family-owned business based in Stavanger, Norway. It produces incredibly stylish and durable porcelain; and we work with them very closely in offering customers a range of personalised tableware, including dinnerware, buffet and tea ware.

By using a range of decal and hand-painted or sprayed techniques, there is literally no end to the possibilities, as you will see on our reimagined seafood stand bowls.

On dinnerware, any one style of decoration/colour can be achieved on as few as 48 (mixed) pieces. On Buffet items it is as few as 6! This means that totally unique tableware is within the reach of any customer.

We have other producers who can also offer bespoke decoration, including Narumi & Hering Berlin.

BESPOKE DESIGN

We also help chefs, caterers and restaurateurs create unique products just from an idea. Whether it is a new shape bowl; or a plate that has an applied texture or pattern; we have a small number of craft producers who will work with you and us to bring your ideas to life. The most exclusive of materials in which to achieve this, is Silver. That's why we are using some examples of our newly-created Silverware items, to demonstrate that you too can have a beautifully crafted, high-quality product made to your very own design. Minimum Order Quantities vary according to the nature of the product.

We also offer the same service in Stoneware, Glass & Wood.

Silver Concepts

We have just started to develop products in Silver plate. With expert craftsmen, and made in England, these products are sheer quality, designed to enhance the most glamorous and elegant of tables.

The items we show here are just a taster from the more extensive Silver collection we have available from our own, and international producers.

We very much welcome the revival of classical favourites like the Souffle but Silver is not just for classical dishes. With our usual desire to surprise, we have introduced new Silver Mini Taco Stands. Like our chefs, we believe that no matter how small the dish, every detail deserves maximum attention.

Velvet

Rim: Biscuit porcelain; finely ground. Surface: glazed porcelain.

The thinness of the porcelain and the delicately rough feel of the hand-ground rim of the plate suggest otherwise - but the dinner plate, like all the other elements of the Velvet Collection, is so robust that it is also ideally suited for use in the catering trade

Dishwasher and microwave-safe.
